Government. These include primary health, primary education, rural shelter, drinking water, rural electrification and nutrition.

The Ministry of Rural Development also implements through the State Governments, the major schemes of the Sampoorna Gramin Rozgar Yojana (SGRY) and the Swarnjayanti Gram Swarozgar Yojana (SGSY) to provide wage and self employment to members of the rural families living below the poverty line in all the rural areas of the country. Other schemes of the Ministry of Rural Development such as the Prime Ministers Gram Sadak Yojana (PMGSY), the Indira Awaas Yojana (IAY) and the Watershed Development Programme are also designed to improve the living conditions in the rural areas as well as indirectly provide employment. Government has also recently launched a National Food for work Programme in 150 most backward Districts in the country with the objective to provide additional employment opportunities to the rural poor.

In addition, with effect from June, 1997 the Public Distribution system in India was streamlined by issuing special cards to families Below Poverty Line (BPL) and selling food grains under PDS to them specially subsidized prices which was about 50% of the economic costs. Under the new scheme viz. the Targeted Public Distribution System (TPDS) each poor family is entitled to 35kgs. of foodgrains.
